University Immersion Program
Sichuan University
Call for Faculty

June 30–July 13, 2019

ABOUT UIP

The two-week University Immersion Program (UIP) organized by Sichuan University, the partner of the ASU Confucius Institute, is designed to convene faculty from all over the world to give short courses and lectures to domestic and international students at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. UIP was initiated in 2012 and is now an annual program. By bringing together students worldwide, it gives all of the participants an opportunity to network and make friends, while at the same time increasing their global awareness and advancing intercultural communications.

Applications from ASU’s Confucius Institute will receive priority consideration, but applicants should apply early.

FACULTY OPPORTUNITY

Sichuan University invites academics worldwide to submit undergraduate-level course proposals for courses that will enrich the knowledge, enhance the creativity, and develop critical thinking for students. International faculty and students will be able to experience the rich cultural life of Chengdu, the capital of Sichuan Province, the “Land of Abundance.”

LECTURING

Lectures should be taught in English. Invited faculty shall teach at least one course (one credit, 16 academic hours).

PAYMENT

UIP will cover the travel and lodging costs and offer an honorarium of RMB 15,500 pre-tax for one course. In addition, social activities and local field trips will be available and covered by Sichuan University.

HOW TO APPLY

Please complete application form and send it with your CV, a recommendation letter from your department and a scanned copy of your passport. Application Deadline is March 1, 2019. The ASU Confucius Institute will review the applications and forward them to Sichuan University with a letter of nomination.

Application Submission: Please drop off application materials to West Hall 205 or email them to
- Ping Guan at pguan1@asu.edu
- Fannie Tam at fannie.tam@asu.edu